

Hiromu Seifert Jazz Voyage is the vehicle by which Japanese-German artist Hiromu Seifert is expressing himself musically and through composition.

HSJV takes the audience on a journey beyond reality and hopes to touch and inspire.

While the compositions provide a coarse plan, each band member is given the space to bring forth their own musical individuality and virtuosity in a harmonious and spontaneous way.

The music has been described as sophisticated, but yet direct with a deep sense of harmony and musical development.

Most notable influences include modern jazz (NY scene), the young Berlin music scene, popular styles (electronic beat music), African rhythmic, East-Asian philosophy and sense of “atmosphere”, but also classical composition techniques and radical innovators like John Cage.

Each composition is usually inspired by Hiromu’s own life happening or what happens in the world while composing is a process of emotional liberation.
